Driving for Donations

Driving for Donations or Cruising for Cash or Riding for Rockets or however you might term it, some volunteers from the Lamar Chamber of Commerce, Board of Directors, were out on the night of July 4th, seeking donations for next year's fireworks display.

The group covered the area parking lots surrounding the Prowers County Fairgrounds, using donated golf carts tricked out with roof-mounted LED lights, and sought donations from area residents as they were waiting for the sky to darken enough for the annual display to get underway. About $1,088 was raised for their efforts. A few days beforehand, KVAZ raised about $800 when morning announcer, Thaddeus Steele, positioned himself at the Main and Olive downtown intersection for a couple of hours and solicited donations from passing motorists. Some additional funds were donated the evening of the fire department's Family Carnival, held at Bi-Centennial Park.

Each year, the Lamar Fire Department tries to raise the needed $8,000 to purchase next July's fireworks supply by May. The thing is, as pointed out by Lamar Fire Chief Marshall Cook, the department can't carry the fundraising responsibility all by themselves anymore and has been looking for community support.

A meeting among citizens and various civic groups was held in late June when Cook spelled out his concerns for some additional help. The idea to seek donations just prior to the fireworks display was one of the suggestions that were presented. Any group that would like to offer their time to the Lamar Fire Department can contact Chief Cook at 719-336-4321. By Russ Baldwin

A Perfect Pool Party

Voces Unidas continued to provide some summer fun and relief from the heat this past Sunday, July 7, with their annual free pool party at the Lamar Municipal Swimming Pool. This marks the 5th year that Voces Unidas has hosted the party in conjunction with the Lamar Chamber of Commerce and various municipal and civic organizations.

An estimated 350 kids showed up to enjoy the water as well as food, drinks and music on Sunday. The day was cut short because of the threat of lightning around 3:30pm. The day had been planned to continue a little longer, but people had time to enjoy the music from DJ Paul Navarrete and the 30 pizzas donated by Community State Bank. Partners for HOPE helped pass out the pepperoni while Crossroads provided free bottled water and LiveWell High Plains Community Health Center provided some free, healthy smoothies and shakes.

Gerry Jenkins of Voces Unidas said the annual pool party is a way of saying "thanks" to the public for celebrating and supporting their events over the past year. By Russ Baldwin
